

Somkid Amornsamankul

Research Activities

Areas of Expertise

Mathematical modeling and computer simulation

Current Interests and Activities

My recent and current research activities involve mathematical modeling and computer simulation in the following areas.

1. Application of neural networks to solve classification problems and regression problems.
2. Mathematical modeling related to sea shore protection.
3. Integrated approach using modelling, simulation, and experiments to study algae based water treatment.